ABSTRACT

This publication has been prepared for government personnel, research workers, librarians/documentalists, teachers, and students. Contained within the directory are materials published in the Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (ESCAP) region on population-related topics. The publication is arranged in four sections. The user's guide contains 21 keys, explaining the organization of the directory. A country index and subject index are included as a cross reference to the alphabetical title listing. The former is arranged alphabetically by country, with percentage, type of available population materials, and periodical entry numbers. Topics within the subject index are population projections, ecology, family planning, labor force, migration, mortality, population problems in legislation, rural population, urbanization, and vital statistics. Countries and accompanying entry numbers are found under each heading. The main section of the directory is the alphabetical title listing. Data elements for each title include the type, form, city, year, and language of publication, International Standard Serial Number (ISSN), periodicity, subscription address, pages, circulation, price, distribution, and microfilm availability. This directory serves as a resource in searching for literature, and establishing a program for systematic acquisition of materials. (BP)

Documents acquired by ERIC include many informal unpublished materials not available from other sources. ERIC makes every effort to obtain the best copy available. Nevertheless, items of marginal reproducibility are often encountered and this affects the quality of the microfiche and hardcopy reproductions ERIC makes available via the ERIC Document Reproduction Service (EDRS). EDRS is not responsible for the quality of the original document. Reproductions supplied by EDRS are the best that can be made from the original.

INTRODUCTION

I. Aim of the Directory

The Directory of Population Periodicals has been prepared by ESCAP with special user categories in mind: government personnel, librarians/documentalists, and research workers, teachers and students.

Government personnel: Information on periodicals printing information on population is useful to Governments in determining a systematic population information dissemination policy and programme. Countries can assess the present situation by studying the number of periodicals, their characteristics, the subjects covered and the target audiences. Gaps in subject areas and in audience areas can be identified, and corrective measures can be taken. Comparisons with other countries can also help in the development of programmes of dissemination.

Librarians and documentalists: This Directory provides a resource in searching for literature or in setting up a programme of systematic acquisition of serials: for example, what is in print, what can be ordered and when and how exchange of information can be arranged for individual centres and through networks at the national, subregional and regional levels.

Research workers, teachers and students: Time-consuming difficulties in finding sources of literature frequently result in the neglect of less well known or less easily accessible sources. This causes systematic biases in bibliographies presented in population research publications. The Directory helps to bridge the gap, and will be of direct use to the research worker who seeks sources on data for a specific country or on a specific subject. ESCAP believes these data will encourage users to examine more literature published inside and outside their own countries for either methodological or comparative purposes.

It is noted that there is a growing trend towards publishing documents in national languages in the region. Since the Directory is an English-language publication, entries of periodicals published in other languages have been translated into English and incorporated in the Directory. It is hoped that this will assist users in the location of necessary periodicals, for a part of the continuing function of the secretariat is to help in overcoming barriers to the flow of population information.

II. How the Directory was prepared

The present Directory is the product of four preparatory phases:

A. The purpose of the first phase, initiated in April 1972, was to locate population periodicals (with their addresses) in the ESCAP region. Several sources were utilized:

(1) Directory of Key Personnel and Periodicals in the Field of population in the ECAFE Region by ECAFE (E/CN.11/898, 1970);

(2) Research, Teaching and Training in Demography - A Directory of Institutions in the ECAFE Region by ECAFE (E/CN.11/1007), Asian Population Studies Series No. 8;

(3) Available periodicals in the Population Division;

(4) Bibliographies prepared by, or available to, the Population Division.

The questionnaire used was a compromise between three considerations: collecting information which would be of practical use to the target categories of users (government personnel, librarians/documentalists, research workers, teachers and students); collecting information which would enable basic analysis on specific information problems to be carried out;[1] and keeping the questionnaire sufficiently short and simple to avoid jeopardizing the chance of response. ESCAP is grateful to the many persons inside and outside the secretariat who provided guidance on the prapration of the questionnaire. The definition of the words used was carefully checked in different languages to insure suitability and consensus.

B. The second phase consisted of compiling the names of periodicals which answered the questionnaire by country and then sending each listing to the ESCAP population correspondents in their respective countries asking for suggestions of names of unlisted periodicals which should be included. This survey enlarged the present Directory by nearly 100 periodicals and provided another example of the value of the correspondents to the Commission in particular and the region as a whole.

C. The third phase was the compilation of the Directory itself: presentation of the data and its enhancement with the available International Standard Serial Number (ISSN) (Key 4 of the user's guide describes the value of the ISSN), and the preparation of indexes.

D. The fourth phase, preparation of the mailing list for distribution of the Directory in order to reach carefully selected target audiences, particularly in the ESCAP region, is important if the data are to be properly disseminated and utilized. This fourth phase in the first stage ends when the reader-user has this document in hand.

III. Further necessary steps

It is necessary to improve or expand the Directory since the Division's surveys show that the situation evolves constantly: new periodicals appear, others cease publication or modify their characteristics (changing emphasis on subject area or priority, or adding abstracts in foreign languages, etc.). Readers will note that publications in quite a few countries in the region do not appear in the present issue. Their omission does not mean there is no serial publication in the field of population in those countries, and efforts are being made by ESCAP to establish communication channels so that new information can be collected and presented in the future issues. Suggestions are welcome. They should be sent to the address given on page 8 of this Directory.

A related project could include expanding the Directory by including a list of population articles published each year by the periodicals listed in the Directory.

This Directory, like other activities of the Population Division, may be viewed as a continuing project to build a stronger basis for the action-oriented programme of ESCAP.

[1] Some results were presented in "Periodicals in the ECAFE Region with special interest in population information: report by the ECAFE secretariat", POP/APC.2/BP/15, 25 October 1972, submitted to the Second Asian Population Conference. A highlight has also been reported in the Asian Population Programme News: 2(1), 1973, pp. 24-26.

USER'S GUIDE

This Directory contains information on titles published in the ESCAP region that include materials on population-related topics. It differs from other standard periodical lists since titles are restricted geographically and by subject and a quantative evaluation is given regarding the amount of population-related materials provided in each periodical. The information has been supplied by the publications.

The main section of the Directory includes the alphabetical title listing. (In a few instances, titles devoted to a country are published in other countries of the ESCAP region; see Key 1 below for alphabetization.) Bibliographic details and the analysis for a title are in this section. Two indexes are provided to locate entries in the main section: one by country in alphabetical order of country names; the other by subject by country.

The main section includes all or most of the following data elements for each title:

KEY	ELEMENT
1.	Title of publication
2.	Translated title
3.	City of publication
4.	International Standard Serial Number (ISSN)
5.	Language(s) of the text of the publication
6.	Language(s) of the summary of the publication
7.	Periodicity
8.	Year publication began
9.	Address for subscription or inquiries
10.	Additions to any of the above
11.	Type of publication
12.	Form of publication
13.	Pages, average number per issue
14.	Percentage of population and related content per year (1971 or 1972)
15.	Priority given to population and related topics, in decreasing order
16.	Circulation
17.	Distribution: to specific occupational groups, institutions, general public in the country, or/and to countries other than the country where the periodical is published
18.	Price in US dollars, or local currency, per year; on exchange basis or gratis

[20]Indexed: Pop. Index

[21]Remarks: Difficult to obtain articles from prominent scholars.

Key 1: Title of publication:

(1) A serial publication is entered under its unique title. However, if the title consists of a general word followed by the name of its issuing body, the latter name is given first. For example:

Annals of the Akita Geographical Association (Akita) is entered thus:

Akita Geographical Association, Annals (Akita)

Government publications with titles composed of generic words are usually entered under the country and office name. For example:

Causes of Death Bulletin (Canberra) is entered thus:

Australia. Commonwealth Bureau of Census and Statistics. Causes of Death Bulletin (Canberra)

(2) Articles ("A", "The", etc.) at the beginning of titles are omitted; articles and prepositions within titles are alphabetized. For example, "The" is omitted in the following cases:

Australian Journal of Statistics (Canberra)

Bank Indonesia. Report (Jakarta)

Bank of Korea. Monthly Statistical Review (Seoul)

(3) Hyphenated words are treated as separate words. For example:

Artha Vijnana (Poona)

Artha-Vikas (Vallabh Vidyanagar, Gujarat)

Asian Labour (New Delhi)

(4) Full stops (periods) are ignored in alphabetizing. For example, the following entries are in order:

1st. New Zealand. Department of Statistics. Statistical Report of Vital Statistics (Wellington)

2nd. New Zealand Economist (Wellington)

3rd. New Zealand. Ministry of Works. National Resources Survey (Wellington)

(5) Acronyms and initials are generally expanded to their full form for alphabetization with the letters repeated. For example:

FPA Newsletter (Sydney) is thus entered:

Family Planning Association of Australia. FPA Newsletter (Sydney)

FPA Newsletter (Tehran) is thus entered:

Family Planning Association of Iran. FPA Newsletter (Tehran)

(6) Certain acronyms and initials in general usage have not been expanded when doing so would be cumbersome. For example:

UNESCO. Regional Centre for Book Development in Asia. Newsletter (Karachi) is entered instead of:

United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. Regional Centre for Book Development in Asia. Newsletter (Karachi)

Key 2: Translated title:

Periodicals with multilingual titles are entered under the first title given with an equal sign (=) separating the translation. For example:

Kansai Medical School. Journal (Osaka) = Kansai Ika Daigaku, Zasshi (Osaka)

Key 3: City of publication:

The city of publication is considered to be an integral part of the title and is included in parenthesis following the title proper. This element serves to distinguish similar titles and to indicate probably geographic concentration of the title's contents. However, publications of international organizations, while also listed by the cities where the organizations are located, by no means indicate that the publications are "local" or "national".

Key 4: International Standard Serial Number:

The International Standard Serial Number (ISSN) is included when known for each title. If the ISSN is not known, the country alphabetic symbol is provided to allow for future inclusion of the ISSN when it is assigned. The ISSN is a unique eight-digit number which identifies a specific serial title and can be used to avoid ambiguity in transmitting title information. The origin and utility of the ISSN are described below:

An International Standard Serial Number is numeric code assigned to a periodical title. ISSNs are the outgrowth of an international effort for bibliographic standardization involving the International Organization for Standardization (ISO), Geneva, national standards and bibliographic organizations, and the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), Paris.

The ISSN eight-digit code is written in two groups of four members separated by a hyphen. An optional two-letter country code serves as a prefix to facilitate geographical grouping. The identifier ISSN is conventionally placed between the country and numerical codes. Thus, an ISSN can be recognized as "IX ISSN 1234-5678" where IS is the geographical designation for intergovernmental organizations as publisher; ISSN identifies the sequence as an International Standard Serial Number; and 1234-5678 is the numerical code.

The primary purpose of the ISSN is to facilitate the exchange of information about periodicals among readers, librarians, subscription agencies and publishers. To achieve this, one symbol is assigned to a given periodical regardless of variation in title form and regardless of similarity in the titles of different publications.

The assigning of ISSNs is co-ordinated by UNESCO through the International Series Data System (ISDS) with the actual assigning done by the national or regional bibliographic centres frequently located in national libraries. If national or regional facilities do not exist at present, ISSN assignments are undertaken by ISDS.

The utility of ISSN is important. Many serial publications are published in small numbers of copies. They may be issued irregularly and may appear and then disappear while the area of specialization is also covered by more well known and widely circulated journals. By entering ISDS and being assigned an ISSN, the periodical title and other bibliographic details, including ordering and subscription information, are made available to a much larger audience, both within and outside the region. The periodical's contents can have greater value and usefulness.

The two-letter alphabetical codes (alpha. 2) for ESCAP members and associate members used in this Directory, as established by ISO (ISO/DIS 3166.2, 24 January 1974) (the code for intergovernmental organizations added), are:

Two-letter Country Code for ESCAP Members and Associate Members

* Associate member.
 Extraregional member. Material from these member countries is not contained in this Directory.

When an ISSN has been assigned, it should be prominently printed on each issue of the periodical. The recommended placement is at the top right hand corner of the front cover (as on the cover of this issue of the Asian Population Studies Series). This will make the ISSN readily available for reference.

Care has been taken in this Directory to include ISSNs whenever possible by consultation with available resources. When the ISSN proper is unknown, the country alphabetic code and the ISSN designator only are supplied. If any assigned ISSN has been omitted, or is incorrect, notification and a sample copy of the periodical may be sent to the secretariat. The address appears at the end of the user's guide.

Publishers of those periodicals without ISSNs who wish to have an ISSN assigned may submit a request, along with a sample copy of the periodical, to the appropriate national or regional centre or to the International Centre. Information regarding the appropriate centre may be obtained from:

Key 8: Year publication began:

When known, the first year of publication is given.

Key 9: Address for subscription or inquiries:

The address is supplied by the publication. It may not be the address of the publisher or subscription office. The address may be used for correspondence purposes, for subscriptions, exchanges or submission of articles.

Key 10: Additions to any of the above:

Additional information available for the publication concerned.

Key 11: Type of publication:

Unless specified by the publication, the serial publications are classified as "professional journals" in a particular field, "statistical publications" only, or as "newsletters" for general readership.

Key 12: Form of publication:

Unless specified, the information published on population is classified in one or two of the following forms: statistical table, technical and theoretical essays, books or article reviews, brief news items (meetings, events, etc.) and popular articles for general public.

Key 13: Pages, average number per issue:

An average number of pages per issue for the year 1971 or 1972 is provided.

Key 14: Percentage of population and related content per year:

The percentage of population information and related content published per year (1971 or 1972) is given in each entry. In parenthesis it also appears under the country index, pages 9-20, for each entry.

Key 15: Priority given to population and related topics, in decreasing order:

For each serial publication, where possible, four priority subject-matter areas are given in decreasing order. This question was not uniformally answered by all periodicals; most listed two to three areas. The subject index, pages 21-23, gives a quick reference to the areas covered by the publications.

Key 16: Circulation:

Average number of copies of each issue distributed inside and outside the country of publication, separated by a semi-colon.

Key 17: Distribution:

Distribution to whom and where: the specific occupational groups and institutions in the country of publication are first stated. Then, following a semi-colon, the names of the countries where the periodical is sent are indicated.

Key 18: Price:

Price in US dollars, or local currency, per year; on exchange basis or gratis.

Key 19: Whether available in microform:

Serials on microform.

Key 20: Whether indexed, i.e., covered by indexing services:

This part enables readers to consult other indexing services for further information on the entries. The abbreviations of the titles of the indexing services included in this Directory are:

1. Aus. PAIS = Australian Public Affairs Information Services; Subject Index to Current Literature (Canberra)
2. Biol. Abstr. = Biological Abstracts (Manila)
3. Chem. Abstr. = Chemical Abstracts (Columbus, Ohio, USA)
4. Curr. Cont. = Current Contents; Behavioural, Social and Educational Sciences (Philadelphia)
5. Excerp. Med. = Excerpta Medica (Amsterdam)
6. G.I.P.L. = Guide to Indian Periodical Literature (Gurgaon, Haryand, India)
7. Ind. In. Med. Per. = Index to Indian Medical Periodicals (New Delhi)

8. Ind. Med. = Index Medicus (Bethesda, Md., USA)

9. Ind. Sc. Abstr. = Indian Science Abstracts (Delhi)

10. Index India = Index India (Jaigur, India)

11. Math. R. = Mathematical Reviews (Providence, R.I., USA)

12. Nutr. Abstr. = Nutritional Abstracts and Reviews (Aberdeen, Scotland)

13. PAIS = Public Affairs Information Services Bulletin (New York)

14. Pop. Index = Population Index (Princeton, N.J. USA)

15. Psych. Abstr. = Psychological Abstracts (Washington, D.C.)

16. RZ = Referativny Zhurnal (Moscow)

17. Sci. Cit. Ind. = Science Citation Index (Philadelphia)

18. Sociol. Abstr. = Sociological Abstracts (New York)

Key 21: Remarks:

All relevant remarks related to distribution of the publication or population information are provided by the publication.

Finally, how may a user locate copies of the publication listed in the Directory? Users are encouraged to consult the union-list in their own countries for locating copies before writing directly to the publishers or the ESCAP secretariat.

The ESCAP secretariat welcomes suggestions, comments, information on the emergence of new population serial publications or/and changes of the publication, as well as gratis copies of publications from the publishers. Correspondence may kindly be directed to:

6 Arogya Sandesh (New Delhi) — HIND — MONTH — Central Health Education Bureau Directorate General of Health Service Kotla Road, New Delhi-1

IN ISSN

Professional journal in the field of health education, newsletter for general readership (illustrated, containing popular features of public interest). Statistical tables; technical and theoretical essays; book or article reviews, brief news items popular articles for the general public (A journal to cover various aspects of health and family planning, including population education.)

24 p. Less than 20-40% Family planning; ecology; urbanization and migration; labour force and manpower.

Cir: 2,850; 25. Public, including students, rural people, housewives, health and family planning workers. Exchange/$US 2.50.

Remarks: Want of expertise in technical field of writing on population education for popular reading in national language and its effective presentation through various media including printing.

7 Artha Vijnana (Poona) ENGL QUART 1959 Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics
Poona 4
India

IN ISSN 0004-3559

Professional journal in the field of economics. Book or article reviews. Mostly evaluation and analysis of census and other demographic data from various sources such as surveys, registers.

100 p. 20-40% As a journal for general economics readers, it covers all the subjects above with almost equal priority. Somehow the present conditions in the country produce more articles on fertility, family planning, vital statistics, etc.

Cir: 300; 167. Academic staff as well as government officials. Exchange/$US 7.50.

Indexed: G.I.P.L., PAIS, Pop. Index.

Remarks: We always have more articles based on microstudies on population from various parts of the country. Very often the methodology is raw or weak and coverage small. This leads us to reject a number of articles. Another important reason for rejection is the type of readers expected to read the journal. The readers are more interested in economic analysis than in population data.

Japan

Newsletter in the field of labour management relations in Japan. Brief news items (meetings, events, etc.).

Around 8 p. Less than 20%. Labour force and manpower.

Cir: 450; 1,600. Scholars and specialists in the field of labour and industrial relations; to universities, institutes and libraries in the United States.

Remarks: Each number of the Bulletin includes a "labour market" section dealing with the labour market situation, labour force survey, demand and supply situation of workers and so forth. A "special topic" section has covered the following subjects relating to population in the past three years: manpower policy and education in Japan (vol.9, Nos. 7 and 8); manpower policy at the enterprise level (vol.9, Nos. 10 and 11); and white paper on labour (vol.8, No. 9), vol.9, No. 9 and vol.10, No. 9).

In the Bulletin the main stress is placed upon labour and industrial relations rather than population problems so that the percentage of space devoted to population is very small.

Remarks: Population and family planning information is not always dealt with as an important issue in the country, Sometimes, articles which appear in the newspapers counteract the information and motivational efforts of PPFK, such as articles which misrepresent the nature of contraceptive methods. Therefore, particular care must be taken to ensure that mass communications personnel are well informed on population issues. Seminars for newspapermen and radio personnel or opportunities to discuss population issues with newspapermen are one way of disseminating information and generating more spontaneous coverage in the mass media.
